Throughout the world, an estimated 2.4 billion people lack basic sanitation (more than 32% of the world’s population). Basic sanitation is described as having access to facilities for the safe disposal of human waste (feces and urine), as well as having the ability to maintain hygienic conditions, through services such as garbage collection, industrial/hazardous waste management, and wastewater treatment and disposal.in this regrads, REVA University conducted awareness program related to health and hygiene in rural areas.

Highlights of Cleaning Drive

- No matter where you are, your surroundings have a big role to play in your well-being and wellness. Think of people who work in an area where their surroundings are not safe. Miners have high rates of lung disease, for example, because they are continuously breathing in poisonous coal dust. Over time, their surroundings contribute to sickness and sometimes even death. It’s not shocking that the bulk of your day is going to have an effect on health and wellness.

Colleges and universities are also crucial fields when it comes to their surroundings. There are also cleanliness problems that both teachers and students face on a regular basis. One of the main reasons for this is that clean colleges provide a healthier learning environment.
